Key Locations in Europe

TMHE has 3 European production centres. The factories in France (Ancenis) and Italy (Bologna) manufacture counterbalanced forklifts while the production centre in Sweden (Mjölby) produces powered warehouse trucks, hand pallet trucks and special design trucks.

All TMHE factories are ISO 9001, ISO 14001, and OHSAS 18001 certified. The TMHE headquarters is located in Mjölby, Sweden. A European office is also located in Brussels.

Environment, Health and Safety

As a responsible industry leader, TMHE engages in a wide range of activities to limit environmental impact – from product development and manufacturing to operations and reusing at end of life.

Toyota Industries Corporation

Toyota Industries Corporation (TICO) is TMHE's parent company. The company was founded by Sakichi Toyoda in 1926 to manufacture automatic looms. It began automotive activities in 1933 and sold its first forklifts in 1956. Today TICO has 4 key business divisions: Automobile, Materials Handling Equipment, Textile Machinery and Others. At the end of March 2017, TICO had 52,600 employees, including 32,500 in its materials handling division.

Toyota Material Handling Group

In 2000, TICO purchased BT Industries and subsequently consolidated global materials handling activities within the Toyota Material Handling Group (TMHG). TMHG operations are organised in five regions: Europe, Japan, North America, China and International. TMHG leadership includes Kazue Sasaki (President & CEO), Takuo Sasaki (CFO), Toshifumi Onishi (EVP & CMSO), Keiichi Fukunaga (EVP & CSO/CQO), Toru Inagawa (CPO), Toshihide Ito (CIO) and Hisashi Ichijo (CTO) together with the regional presidents. TMHE is the European regional headquarters of the Toyota Material Handling Group within TICO.

Financial Highlights

In FY2017¹ TICO posted total net sales of about €18.9 billion². During the same period, TICO's material handling division had net sales of about €8.7 billion² based on sales of approximate 253,000 units.

Leadership
